

National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC)

- Goals: Universities work to help ensure our nation's ability to produce and market a nutritious and safe food supply. This effort is bringing together best scientific knowledge and expertise from broad, multi-disciplinary perspectives to meet this national vision. Led by NASULGC, Higher education has formed a working group with public television. Working through the Association of Public Television Stations, higher education is working in a win/win environment to take advantage of the digital conversion. "The Millennium Partnership Initiative" outlines how federal and state government resources along with the private sector work to ensure that higher education institutions have the technological infrastructure to integrate technology into the traditional curriculum, provide more flexible educational opportunities for part-time, non-residential students, and develop new partnerships with K-12, business and local. Founded in 1887, the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC) is the nation's oldest higher education association. A voluntary association of public universities, land-grant institutions and many of the nation's public university systems, NASULGC campuses are located in all 50 states, the U.S. territories and the District of Columbia. Dedicated to supporting excellence in teaching, research and public service, NASULGC has been in the forefront of national educational leadership for over a century. In 1963, the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities merged with the National Association of State Universities to create the NASULGC (pronounced na SUL jick).
- Chapters, affiliates, members:
NASULGC has 212 members. For a local list of member/affiliates or chapters go to  www.nasulgc.org See "About NASULGC" in the left hand column.
- Best way to contact:
 - General questions, media contact:
Linda Kay Benning
 Associate Director, Extension & Outreach
NASULGC
1307 New York Ave., NW
Suite 400
Washington, DC 20005-4722
Phone: (202) 478-6065
Fax: (202) 478-6046
Email: lbenning@nasulgc.org
 Public universities are usually well known in a local community. Ask for the Outreach / Public Service coordinator; in some cases the Director of the Cooperative Extension Service may be a good first point of contact.
- Organization's culture: NASULGC has brought together other higher education associations located in Washington, DC, along with APTS, to work collaboratively on building better collaboration, and identify increased funding, not only for the university licensees but all institutions.
- Resources provided: staff, site/facilities
- Engagement program areas of interest: health 